4-Context and objectives of the training

The foreign language licence (Arabic, English, French or Spanish) aims to provide basic training in the fields of literature and civilization in addition to its primary objective which is to develop linguistic skills allowing the student to express himself clearly in the target language.

Furthermore, foreign Language licence aims to consolidate learning techniques that favour, on the one hand, the autonomy of the student in the realization of his work, and on the other hand the spirit of group work. Another objective would be to give students the opportunity to pursue Master's studies in different specialties such as didactics, language sciences, literature and civilization, translation and communication sciences. The main objectives of this training are:

6-Profiles and Competencies Targeted

The student is trained to acquire linguistic skills that allow him not only to write compositions, articles and letters, but also to understand the cultures and civilizations of target language speech communities. These skills will lead the student towards a spirit of scientific analysis on purely linguistic and socio-cultural levels.

The training will develop the student's four language skills: the student will be required to reach a satisfactory writing and speaking proficiency in addition to a good listening comprehension of the target language.

7-Development Prospects and Employability
